Camp Mary White - Celebrating 95 Years

About Camp Mary White

Camp Mary White, established in 1927, will celebrate her rich heritage of 95-years in 2022. The camp is situated on 200 acres near Mayhill, New Mexico in the Lincoln National Forest. It has been home to generations of girls, who learned stewardship of nature and community at the camp. This now private rustic residential camp for girls entering 4th-12th grade in the fall of 2022 offers a mountain outdoor experience with archery, horseback riding, leadership skills, arts & crafts, hiking and much more. Our campers will experience the "Magic of Camp Mary White" a magic that will enrich them with a sense of accomplishment and independence. It will also offer a treasure trove of wonderful memories that they will carry for a lifetime.

CIT I - Grades 11 & 12

Program I - June 26th-July 7th - $950

PROGRAM: Our Counselor-in-Training program gives our oldest campers the opportunity to participate in all the fun activities CMW has to offer while learning and practicing leadership skills to prepare them to be counselors. Our CIT's are still considered campers; however, they have more independence as they are learning to be responsible and self-directed. CIT's will help plan and supervise special camp events, take part in a camp service project, and finally get their own camp nickname!

*CMW Factoid - regional camps equivalent to CMW charge $500/week with additional charges up to $100 for horseback riding. These camps do not offer a specific 2-week unit. Therefore, the costs to attend a 2-week camp is $900. We are pleased to offer a great value to our campers and their families by including horseback riding in our fees.

Mission Statement

FCMW provides girls and women rustic outdoor experiences which foster confidence, independence, and leadership.

All of our camp programming embraces this mission statement. Our goal is to encourage our campers to try new things and to support their personal growth. Whether it's her first time hiking in the rain, making new friends, riding a horse, building a campfire, or even washing dishes, each camper has a chance to learn and to grow.

There are many ways in which campers grow from their experience at CMW including:

- Developing an affinity for nature and a respect for the environment
- Growing healthy relationships and learning to work together as a team
- Gaining confidence and becoming more independent
- Nurturing a sense of belonging and a connection to the camp community

Camp Mary White's goal is to focus on the "whole girl" with an emphasis on these areas of growth, and our programming is developed to promote these areas. After camp, you will be asked to complete a survey asking if you have noticed growth in your camper. Your input is appreciated for us so that we can continue to develop meaningful programming at Camp Mary White.

Our programming, and even our facilities, works to promote our mission statement and our desired outcomes/goals while carrying on the traditions that CMW has been built upon for over 95 years.

"What [we] are doing comes from many years back. It's tradition, and tradition is valuable. It's something that makes you be somebody you didn't know you could be. It goes with you from others who did the same thing and did it well and are proud of it. And you become proud yourself." - Paula "Robin" Homer - Camp Director 1977-1986

Units: Each unit of campers has their own cluster of rustic “Adirondack” cabins which sleep 4-5 girls each. Sleeping in these cabins, without electricity or plumbing and with a half-open front wall, feels like sleeping in a tree-house. Every unit also has their own latrine and outdoor campfire area.

Flag Ceremony: Continuing the tradition from when CMW was a Girl Scout camp, we start and end every day with a flag ceremony. This is a meaningful way for us to gather together as a whole camp, and every camper will have the opportunity to help design and participate in a ceremony.

Meals: We eat our meals together in our main lodge (Ingham Hall, which was built in 1928.) Our sit-down “family-style” meals are great times for girls to get to know staff and campers from other units and to chat and laugh with each other. After each meal, the campers all work together to clean up - often washing dishes while singing camp songs together!

Singing Trees: Before and after every meal, campers gather under the Ponderosa Pines to sing together. Our camp songs range from silly songs with hand motions and dances to beautiful melodies. These songs become the soundtrack for our camp life and are often sung while doing other activities and will almost certainly accompany families on the drive home from camp!

Horseback Riding: Under the supervision of our experienced riding staff, our campers first learn about safely interacting with horses, grooming, saddling, and leading the horses. Campers then learn basic riding skills, and as they accomplish these skills, they are able to add more advanced skills and techniques.

Arts and Crafts: Campers express their creativity with projects using things found in the natural forest environment, leather, and a wide variety of craft materials. There is a blend of guided projects and independent “maker’s space” type activities.

Outdoors Skills: Our camp’s location, nestled in the beautiful Lincoln National Forest, gives us many opportunities for outdoor activities. Campers learn nature, outdoor safety, and campcraft skills while hiking and going on overnight tent-camping trips. Encouraging our campers to feel comfortable in and appreciate the outdoors is a main focus of our camp programming.

Most of our activities take place outside in the natural environment. Campers wake to the mountain air and sunshine coming into their cabins, and return to their units at night under the blanket of a star-filled sky.

Archery: Using equipment approved by the National Archery in Schools program, campers learn basic archery safety and target skills. As their skill level increases, they are able to practice with engaging archery challenges.

Special Programming: Each summer, we offer special programming to add to the camp experience. In the past, this has been presentations from professional astronomers, nature hikes with experienced naturalists, and visits from Rangers from the Lincoln National Forest.
